Believe me, nothing except a battle lost can be half so melancholy as a battle won. - Duke of Wellington, at Waterloo The names of history s most famous battles still ring in our ears today, their influence immediately understood by all. Marathon lent its name to the world s most famous race, but it also preserved Western civilization during the First Persian War. Saratoga, won by one of the colonists most renowned war heroes before he became his nation s most vile traitor. Hastings ensured the Normans success in England and changed the course of British history. Waterloo, which marked the reshaping of the European continent and Napoleon s doom, has now become part of the English lexicon. In Charles River Editors Greatest Battles in History series, readers can get caught up to speed on history s greatest battles in the time it takes to finish a commute, while learning interesting facts long forgotten or never known. It is late in the evening of 18th June, 1815. The scene is a coaching inn on the road between Charleroi and Brussels, a few miles south of the village of Mont St. Jean, in what is now Belgium. The inn is located on a crossroad, and for 100 yards either side of it men are strewn, dead or dying. These are elements of Napoleon s elite Imperial Guard, three battalions of which had retreated towards the inn at the end of the battle. With the...
